INNOVATIVE THERAPY METHODS TO SUPPORT THE HEALING PROCESS WITH HORSES

Every organism undergoes some kind of healing processes every second. It is important because cell aggressors (like free radicals) attack the biological structures. There is no doubt that an organism can only function when its function elements have the adequate form • structure • shape, i.e. the spatial and temporal arrangement of the molecules. Think the protein components (=albuminous substances) which also provide the enzymes. No process in the organism can do without proteins and enzymes. But to become active, these molecules must keep a detailed form • structure • shape with exactly the right angle (i.e. the helix structure). If it is destroyed, as in the case of an injury, the proteins cannot be used anymore. We thus define HEALING generally as “the regeneration of form • structure • shape on the micro and macro level for the purpose of an optimal functioning” quotation by Dr. rer. nat. U. Warnke, technical biology & bionics, university of the Saarland, Germany. The process of destruction through free radicals and small injuries (i.e. with muscles and tendons) is accelerated in the case of exertion or some kind of unusual effort. The self-healing process is overstretched and therefore dysfunctions and diseases develop.

BionMed® veterinarian supports the regeneration of the different components in the organism and thus the healing process.

BionMed® veterinarian has already been used successfully by Olympic champions and world champions in the dressage discipline and show jumping.

The editorial office has all the names registered!

Dimensions: 200x132x20-44mm
Weight: approx. 1kg, accu-batt. incl.

Picture: BionMed® veterinarian

Equipment: system with Klett-bag to attach to the horse, rechargeable Mignon battery set, case.

BionMed® veterinarian is equipped with the Sennex® and Relax programs. These programs do not need any further applicators for the treatment. All innovative information fields are included in the handy system.

HEALTH THROUGH INFORMATION

Biological information technology • BionMed® veterinarian

Every organism works with a natural and biological information system. Biological information of the cell is coded energy which is understood by the organism. With the help of BionMed® veterinarian we externally influence this sensitive system by using energetically coded information fields and thus trigger verifiably regeneration and healing. If a defective cell finally works like a healthy cell, the healing has been achieved. Regular application promotes health.

To summarise the main facts:

HEALTH THROUGH INFORMATION

With the help of these specific bionic information fields
we have realised exactly this principle.

Present list of indications:

- inflammation •haematoma caused by bite •split hooves
- swollen cysts with effusion of blood •carpal tunnel-syndrome
- colic •lumbago •nervousness •harding of the back
- acute pains •pain and swelling caused by saddle sores
- suppurative frontal sinusitis •ganglion on the joint
- wound treatment
